Only ERECTOR builds the square girder with interlocking edges

Lengths of rugged steel, locked rigidly together with nuts and bolts — that's the secret of the famous Erector Square Girder! Just like the heavy girders with which the Empire State Building, the Hell Gate Bridge and other world-famous structures are made, Erector Square Girders are designed to give your models the strength of real-life construction. That's why building engineers make Erector models of big projects before they start construction. You can't beat the realism of Erector!

You can feel its STRENGTH!

Grip an Erector Square Girder with both hands. Try to crush it. Try to bend it. Impossible? That's because Erector Square Girders are made according to the same engineering principles as REAL girders. And they're held together by sturdy nuts and bolts — not flimsy, makeshift devices that make weak, wobbly models. When you choose your construction set, take the advice of real engineers — buy Erector!

New Mastery over your Rail System with ELECTRONIC CONTROL!

The magic of Electronics — engineered in American Flyer Locomotives to provide spectacular train operation never before possible! Even on the same track, Locomotives can be made to run in either the same or in opposite directions. Think of what this means! You can start two trains* speeding toward each other. Then, just before they crash head-on, you bring them both to a halt and back them up! Or, if you wish, stop one, reverse it and have the other follow! Thrilling? You bet it is — and it's only one of the many things possible with American Flyer Electronic operation. How do Electronic Locomotives operate? By using the American Flyer No. 16 Electronic Rectifier which reduces household A.C. to 15 volts and changes it to D.C. Another way is to use the No. 15 Rectifier and a Transformer. Both of these Accessories will also operate standard Locomotives.

*One of which is a conventional (A.C.) locomotive and the other an Electronic (D.C.) Locomotive.

RUN TWO TRAINS ON THE SAME TRACK IN THE SAME DIRECTION.

HOLD ONE LOCOMOTIVE AND START THE OTHER — ON THE SAME TRACK.

RUN TWO TRAINS IN OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS ON THE SAME LINE — REVERSE EITHER ONE AT WILL.

It's Amazing!

ELECTRIC EYE TRAIN CONTROL

One of the most incredible train control systems ever devised! Enables you to operate your American Flyer Locomotives and Accessories in mysterious ways. Wave your hand — and your train immediately comes to a halt! Wave it again and it starts! Strike a match and the boulevard lamps on your railroad system light up! Make one train start and stop another train! And the amazing part is: you touch no controls! These are only a few of the strange, weird and fascinating things you can do with the Gilbert No. 7 Electric Eye Set. Complete details on Page 11.

Price, $14.95. Denver and West, $15.65.
